

Track One: Education

Teach lessons that last a lifetime. Education is the Peace Corp's largest program area. Volunteers play an important role in creating links among schools, parents and communities by working in elementary, secondary and postsecondary schools as math, science, conversational English and resource teachers or as early-grade reading and literacy teacher-trainers. Volunteers also develop libraries and technology resource centers.

If you choose Education, take 3 courses in the following two areas:

2 courses from the following:

- Introduction to Fiction Writing (ENGL 200)
- Symbolic Logic (PHIL 201)
- Child Development (PSYC 223)
- Educational Psychology (PSYC 324)
- Adolescence (PSYC 348)
- Introduction to Programming (SCMP 118)

1 course in math:

- Elements of Statistics (STAT 106)
- Calculus I (MATH 111)
- Calculus II (Math 112)
- Statistics in Sports (STAT 116)
- Data Analysis (STAT 206)
- Non-Parametric Statistics (STAT 216)
- Linear Algebra (MATH 224)
- Mathematical Problem Solving (MATH 231)

And build 50 hours of related field experience through an activity such as:

- Teaching in a classroom with a community outreach organization or in a formal tutoring capacity. The subject of the teaching may be English as a Foreign/Second Language, special education, drama or a STEM subject
- Volunteer or service hours acquired in a school or other educational institution during study abroad (such as in programs operated by the School for International Training)
- Volunteering and teaching at local schools, such as Wiggin Street School in Gambier or East Knox Elementary in Danville
- Volunteering and teaching at local agencies, such as Head Start
- Engaging in translation services as part of the Kenyon Latino Studies concentration

Peace Corps Prep work can be done at any point during your four years at Kenyon. Students can apply at any time in their college career, but it is heavily encouraged that students begin no later than their first semester of junior year in order to complete all coursework in a timely manner.
